Welcome!

Welcome to the sixth annual Sacramento World Music & Dance Festival (www.sacworldfest.org): "Feast your eyes. Your heart. Your mind." Sacramento is recognized as the most multi-ethnically integrated big city in America. To celebrate our cultural and ethnic fusion, this multicultural event features local and regional performers and artists, who proudly present their ethnic traditions through music, dance, art, food.

Families and individuals will enjoy traveling the world within Old Sacramento, experiencing different world cultures through various interactive and educational opportunities. The family-friendly extravaganza will feature six performance areas with more than 40 performances, a Global Village featuring cooking demonstrations and unique insights into various cultures, children's entertainment in the Eagle Theatre and many other activities.

Lina Fat, past chair of the Sacramento World Music & Dance Festival and executive chef of Fat Family Restaurant Group, says it best: "It's extraordinary that dancers and musicians with ties from all over the globe will be performing right here in Sacramento."

We invite you to capture this unique festival experience through seeing, hearing, feeling, and tasting the excitement as you connect with friends, family and loved ones!

In gratitude,

Monica E. Hart
Board Chair

Spotlight On: Native America

BY MIKE BLOUNT

Saturday, Oct. 5, 6-8 p.m.

FREE

1 Waterfront Stage
(Front Street between L & K streets)

Sponsored by On Native Ground, the Sacramento World Music & Dance Festival's spotlight will celebrate the rich cultural heritage of Native Americans. Kicking off the festival, Spotlight On: Native America will feature various members of Native American communities showcasing the diverse cultural facets of Native Americans.

Headlining Spotlight On: Native America is Edward Madril, a member of the Pascua Yaqui tribe of Southern Arizona and Northern Sonora Mexico. He is an active member of the Native American community and advocates for Native American culture as a dancer, singer, teacher, playwright and filmmaker.

Madril previously taught Native American music at San Francisco State University and is a previous recipient of the California Arts Council Arts-In-Residence grant. Madril has performed throughout the Western United States as a dancer and performer for the last 20 years.

Spotlight On: Native America is free and begins Saturday at 6 p.m. on the Waterfront Stage in Old Sacramento on Front Street between L and K streets. For more information, visit www.sacworldfest.org.

Global Village

BY MIKE BLOUNT

Performing arts, demonstrations and more!

The Global Village is one of the most inspiring components of the Sacramento World Music & Dance Festival. It brings together families to learn about other cultures all around the world. Featuring stellar performances, cooking demonstrations and hands-on learning, the Global Village allows children and adults to experience several cultures without ever leaving Old Sacramento.

Once your family arrives, you'll receive a "passport" to track the different places you've visited. Each booth represents a different country where your family will have an opportunity to learn about the cultures of China, Brazil and more. You may get to sample the local cuisine, watch an exciting performance, play an interactive game or even take part in a drum circle. The Global Village is sure to be an exciting and educational experience for your whole family.

Brought to you by Visions in Education, don't miss this opportunity to be inspired by the many participants of the Sacramento World Music & Dance Festival's Global Village!
